Q1	What does 'to spoof somebody' mean in this context of hacking?

6:40 – 6:55	Defcom is the largest hacker convention in the world
Q2	This convention is made up of many 'white hat hackers'. Who are they?

7:15 – 7:39	Stealing your identity without you knowing it
Q3	What can the "Briefcase of Doom" do and how is it done?

7:40 – 9:47	Human hackers
Q4	Chris and Michelle are human hackers. They can hack somebody by simply using information that was shared online and from that, take on the identity of the victim to gain access to more information by pretending to be that person. They use Asha, the presenter, as an example. Fill in the gaps as they do their work:
<ol style="list-style-type: none"> They _____ Asha's number so it looks like she's calling from her phone. They get her phone balance and what she owes on a recording from typing in her _____. They get Asha's _____ by pretending to be her while speaking to the company's representative on the phone. They next get her _____ details. They add _____ to the account. Then they do a _____ on that same bank account so Asha no longer can access her own bank account.
Q5	What information is dangerous to put online?

9:50 – 10:55	Clicking on links
Q6	Asha was sent a link to her cellphone, which she clicked onto, and this provided the man to get photos of her. Besides the photos, he mentioned he can easily access three other things. What were they?
