DISCUSSION THEMES:

- Do you think simple tests like these can reveal much about someone’s personality?
- Some people with a high sense of ‘street smarts’ can ‘read’ a person (know what they’re like) by interacting with them for just a minute or two. Do you agree? What would they be checking out and how might they do it?
- Can people learn to think in other ways, to realize, understand or see how different personality types perceive the world?
